LONDON BOMBINGS RESUMED

INVADING RAIDERS RENEW ATTACK AFTER NIGHT OF BOMBINGS

TREMENDOUS LOADS OF EXPLOSIVES DUMPED ON EVERY PART OF ENGLAND

LONDON, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Anti-aircraft fire opened on three London fronts tonight, indicating German bombers were attacking the city for the thirteenth consecutive night.

Many Londoners were already in air raid shelters when the firing began.

As dusk fell with no new alarm since morning many had begun to fill subway benches and platforms ready for the worst.

LONDON, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Several casualties and some damage were caused this morning when a German raider, beginning a daylight attack in the wake of a heavy assault, dropped three or four bombs on an east London district.

The raider opened a new day—the thirteenth—of the Nazi air offensive against London, already rated the most bombed city in history, as the city's millions sought to resume their tasks and to put right as far as possible damage done in an all-night raid described by reporters as the fiercest yet.

German bombers flew to the renewed assault over England's east and southeastern coasts and the air ministry reported three shot down in morning fighting.

Londe traveled to work on busses which crawled through damaged streets and along devious detours, and surveyed the battered facades of newly damaged business buildings.

A portion of the press raised new demands for deep bombproof shelters.

Moderate gales whipped up whitecaps on the English channel and there were indications of rain before nightfall, bad omens for any invader attempting to cross from the French or Belgian coasts.

Tremendous loads of explosive were dumped by the Germans last night, principally in South London, but also in central London, and in practically every other part of England as well—Lancashire, Hertfordshire, Berkshire, Essex, Sussex, Kent, the Midlands, northeast and southwest.

New Devastation Points

New devastation and damage in central London included the Peter Robinson department store at Oxford Circus, the London county hall, just across Westminster Bridge from the houses of parliament, the courtyard of the world-famous British museum, the Wallace art collection courtyard, the Inner Temple (law courts) library and the public records office.

Oxford and regent streets, two of the west end's busiest thoroughfares, were closed to traffic.

Forty-eight German planes were destroyed in yesterday's air battles, the air ministry said. Twelve British planes were lost, but nine pilots were reported safe.

The government said at least 90 persons were killed and 350 injured last night in London.

Striking singly and in waves, the Germans threw great numbers of their luftwaffe into the night raid, loosing a new type of explosive fire bomb as well as the usual explosives and incendiaries, causing buildings to sway and great fires to light the sky.

To their hideous noise were added the sounds of anti-aircraft

ANNOUNCE CHANGE IN COMMANDERS LOCAL NATIONAL GUARD UNIT

CAPT. L. C. MOLLOY SUCCEEDS CAPT. F. A. PIERCE HEADQUARTERS BATTERY

A change in commanders of Regimental Headquarters Battery, 132nd Field Artillery, Texas National Guard, was announced earlier this week at the regular drill period with Capt. L. C. Molloy, succeeding Capt. Festus A. Pierce.

For the past three years, Capt. Molloy, native of Corsicana, has been adjutant of the Second Battalion, 132nd F. A., under Lt.-Col. John J. Garner. His successor has not yet been named

Capt. Pierce was the organizer and first commander of Headquarters Battery, and has been the chief officer a majority of the time since it was inducted into service in 1922. Pierce has transferred to the voluntarily retired list, and under Texas Military law will be available when needed during any emergency, and will retain his present rank, rating, and service credit.

Capt. Pierce began his career in the national guard at Hubbard, Hill county, in 1908, and in 1912 was commissioned a second lieutenant of infantry. In 1913 he transferred to the medical corps. After the World War he was com-

BANKS 'MANEUVERED' INTO POSITION WHERE AFRAID NOT BUY BONDS

SENATOR GLASS SAYS BONDS NOT SOLD, MERELY ALLOCATED TO THE BANKS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Senator Glass (D-Va), one of the first congressional sponsors of the Federal Reserve Banking system, told his colleagues today that banks had been "maneuvered" into a position where they are "afraid" not to purchase new issues of federal bonds.

The Virginian made the assertion during debate on a proposal to tax income from future issues of governmental securities.

Senator Adams (D-Colo) had expressed concern lest such a move would make banks and other buyers less willing to purchase the $20,000,000,000 of federal bonds which he estimated would be hold to increase the National debt to $65,000,000 000.

"They are not going to sell this $20,000,000,000 of bonds at all." Glass broke in. "They haven't been selling them for years. They have been allocating them to the banks. They have maneuvered the banks into a position where they are afraid not to take them when they are allocated to them.

"It has been said by competent authority that depreciation of federal bonds ten points below par would ruin 90 per cent of the banks of this country and that's true."

Adams remarked that the credit of the government was "at the peak" at the present time, but he added, "comes a new issue of bonds and the question is what are we going to get for that. When those bonds cease to find a ready market, down goes our defense program as well as the economic structure of the country."

Adams said that there was no legal question involved in taxing income from federal bonds and that he did not believe wealthy persons should be permitted to use tax exempt securities as a means of escaping a fair share of taxes.

"But I'm inclined to think," he added, "that in the effort to reach that evil we might perpetrate a worse evil on the country."

Tax Rate Set And Budget Adopted By City Commission

Budget for the City of Corsicana for the fiscal year of 1940-41 was adopted at a recessed meeting of the city commission Thursday afternoon, and an ordinance levying taxes for 1940 and setting the rate at $2.50 per $100 assessed valuation was passed for its first reading. No citizens appeared at the time set for the public hearing.

The budget covers the period from April 10, 1940 to April 9, 1941.

The tax rate was set at $2.50, the same figure as last year and was divided as follows: General fund five cents, schools $.75, streets ten cents, sanitary fund twenty cents, library fund five cents, and interest and sinking fund $1.35.

Mayor Pro Tem J. Harry Burke presided, with Commissioners Fred D. Prince, Travis Fullwood, and W. E. McKinney in attendance.

The commission adjourned at 2:15.

STIMSON ANNOUNCED CONTRACTS SIGNED FOR 9,174 PLANES

LAST NATIONAL GUARD CALL FOR YEAR PLANNED BE ISSUED IN NOVEMBER

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Secretary Stimson announced today that the war department had signed contracts since July 1 for 9,174, of 18,641 war planes for which congress has provided funds at this session.

Reviewing progress made by the army in reinforcing defenses in the last three months, Stimson said the figures were for airplane purchases "as of today."

At the same time Stimson in a series of announcements, disclosed tentative plans to call to active duty approximately 37,000 national guard officers and men in November. They will comprise the third and fourth national guard increments to be called out.

Under present plans, no further units then will be ordered to service before January 3.

At the White House President Roosevelt signed legislation authorizing $23,680,000 worth of navy drydock construction.

At the capitol the house rules committee arranged for the house to take up soon a bill to make immediately effective a war-time fines up to $10,000 and imprisonment up to 10 years for sabotage of defense production or transportation.

Another measure cleared by the committee would assist private companies to finance defense operations by permitting them to assign to banks their contract claims against the government. Such assignments would serve as security for loans.

The propective national guard call will increase substantially the number of citizen soldiers in uniform.

60,000 Don Uniforms

An initial group of 60,000 guardsmen donned uniforms September 16 and 36,000 others have been ordered to report October 15.

Stimson said that approximately 1,377 officers and men of the 56th cavalry brigade of Texas would be ordered temporarily to Fort Bliss, Tex., on November 18. On November 25 about 35,565 officers and men from 16 states are to be ordered out as the fourth increment.

The principal units in the fourth increment are the 31st division from Florida, Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana; 35th division, from Nebraska, Kansas

FAIR AT BLOOMING GROVE DRAWS LARGE CROWD OPENING DAY

FEATURE MONDAY AFTERNOON SESSION WAS HORSE SHOW; MANY ENTRIES

BLOOMING GROVE, Sept. 19.—(Staff Special)—One af the largest crowds in the history of the enterprise witnessed the unusually colorful inaugural parade of the seventeenth annual Blooming Grove Fair here at 10 o'clock this morning. Miss Mildred Harris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Harris, was introduced as "Miss Blooming Grove 1940" anad queen of the fair. Her attendants included Misses Zelda Brown, Joan King, Mary Ruth Norwood, and Jean Sumner. John Johnson of Barry was parade marshal.

All exhibit spaces were reported well filled with extraordinarily large entries in the ladies' art work, culinary and general agriculture departments. Approximately 500 birds were entered in the poultry competition, more than fifty head of dairy cattle, and larger than usual entries in the beef cattle division. Entries from 25 4-H club boys have been received for the special boys' show to be held Friday morning.

The feature of the Monday afternoon session was the horse show with numerous entries in all classifications. A colt was entered by W. C. Stroube of Corsicana and a stallion by R. H. Corbett of Hillsboro.

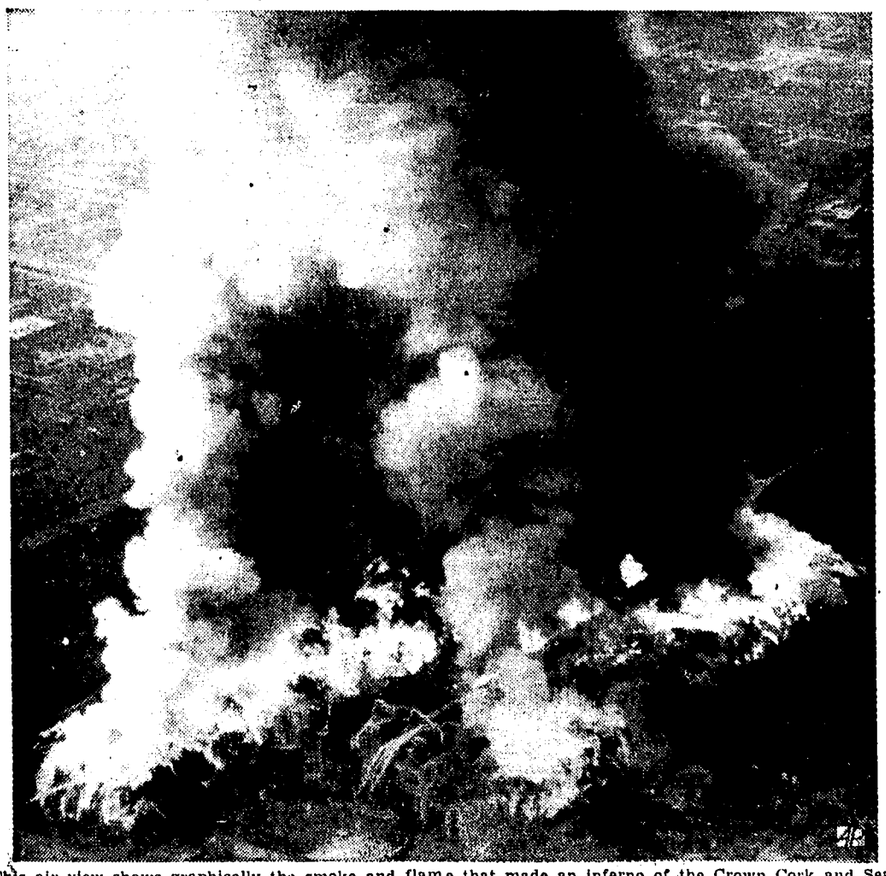

Prizes for the best decorated floats went to the Senior Class of the high school, first; junior class second; and Central Baptist church, third In the lady rider's division Miss Dorothy Melton was awarded first prize and Miss Dorlee Rhodes second. Charles Gillen won in the boys' division. A comic float entry was the freshman class of the high school attracted much attention.

Performances of the Blooming Grove rodeo will be presented each night through Saturday, and other midway attractions have been secured on the program of entertainment.

UNLIMITED BOMBING WAR ON ENGLAND IS DEMANDED BY NAZIS

RETALIATION SOUGHT FOR REPORTED BOMBING OF HOSPITAL BY BRITISH

BERLIN, Sept. 19.—(AP)—A call for unlimited bomb warfare on England in retaliation for the reported bombing of a German hospital was sounded in the German press today.

It followed cautious hints that the aerial struuggle might go on through the winter, but with new pressure of some sort on other "vulnerable" points of the British Empire.

Der Angriff, propaganda minister Goebbels' paper, demanded thousand-fold retaliation for the bombing at Bethel, Prussia, in which the high command said nine children were killed and 12 injured by RAF night raiders.

Another newspaper, Nachtausgabe, said that "hereafter not the slightest consideration need be taken" for British civilians.

There were hints of extension of the war in both time and space.

They supplemented the declaration by authorized spokesmen that "tangible deeds" would follow the axis parley in Rome, now under way, and coincided with official reports on the bombardment of London and England which pictured no deviation from the established nature of the last 12 days of almost continous raiding.

Past 24 Hours' Action.

The high command, summarizing the last 24 hours' actions, reported bombardment of;

Docks and port facilities at Tilbury,

British government shipyards at Chatham,

Oil tanks at London's Victoria docks,

Several ships, including a tanker, which were left burning,

The Silvertown and Royal Albert docks at London as well as "important objectives,"

Port facilities at Liverpool,

Chemical works at Billingham-on-Tyne,

Docks at Newcastle and

Airports in Central England

Meanwhile, said the high command, "the mining of southern English ports continues."

Plane Loss Figures.

British plane losses yesterday were set at 38 as against 13 German planes missing. (The British said the score was 48 to 12 in Britain's favor.)

The high command told of RAF attacks in northern France and Belgium "without causing noteworthy military damage" and a raid last night on western Germany in which, it was charged, the British bombed "non military targets and raided Bethel hospitals."

Instructions For Participants In Fair Parade Given

All participants in the parade which will open the third annual Corsicana Livestock and Agricultural Show next Tuesday morning at 10:30 must report to their assigned stations not later than 10 a. m. according to final instructions issued Thursday by Lt. Col John J. Garner, general chairman of the event

All traffic in the business section of the city will be halted at 10:15 and the procession will move out promptly at 10:30.

Ten bands have been secured for the parade, and added color was promised Thursday with the announcement the entire Corsicana High School Pep Squad would participate.

Among the new features of the fair this year will be a class of baby beef calves entered by a group of girls in the Barry community, and also several dairy heifers entered by 4-H club boys in Navarro county and the Coolidge FFA chapter. A special department has also been arranged for negro boys feeding calves.

Winners in all of the classes of cattle competition will be presented in the rodeo arena next Thursday night, fair officials announced. On the same night members of the Navarro county dairy judging team, state champions, will be awarded jackets by the Corsicana Junior Chamber of Commerce. The recipients will include Elliott Beale and Darrell Williams of Corbet, and Albert Donohoo of Corsicana. The team will leave early in October for the National Dairy Show at Herrinburg, Penn.

SENATOR GILLETTE WANTS QUICK ACTION ANTI-TRUST SUITS

NATIONAL DEFENSE COMMISSION FEARS IT MAY HAMPER PREPAREDNESS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Senator Gillette (D-Iowa) wrote Attorney General Jackson today urging that there be "no further delay' in filing an anti-trust suit to divorce the producing and marketing activities of 22 major oil companies.

The National Defense Commission, however, holds the opinion that certain parts of the preparedness program would be hampered or delayed if the action was pursued. The views were set forth in a report the commission submitted to Jackson after a study of the proposed legal proceedings.

Gillette's opinion differed from the commission's. He said he believed any possibility of interference with defense needs had been eliminated by a change in the petition to be filed should the government initiate the suit.

He said Thurman Arnold, assistant attorney general in charge of the anti-trust division, had informed him that the government would ask the court to consider "all relevant testimony" as to the effect of possible court orders on the problem of national defense he improvidently held to be illegal."

QUIET DAY PASSES FOR CAPITAL; RAIDS BEGIN EARLY TONIGHT

MODERATE GALE IN CHANNEL PRECLUDES ATTEMPT AT LAND INVASION

By The Associated Press.

After a lull lasting since morning without a single air-raid alarm, London's millions tonight heard the fury of their anti-aircraft barrage, signaling the 13th successive night of German bombing attacks.

The firing was heavy on three London fronts.

A moderate gale chopped the waters of the English channel into white-capped waves, blocking any attempt at a sea-borne invasion, but Berlin reported that "ideal" weather prevailed for air raids.

The British fleet blasted into action in the Mediterranean today, shelling Italian troops marching along the Libyan-Egyptian coast, while on the home front in London the empire capital's bombstrafed millions surveyed the havoc from the fiercest night-long assault of the war.

Many victims were feared entombed in southeast London when a German bomber crashed with a full load of bombs, demolishing several buildings.

An official estimate placed the city's casualty toll at 90 killed, 350 seriously wounded.

RAF warplanes retaliated with a smashing attack on German "invasion ports," The London air ministry said, leaving the Nazi-occupied French coast in flames for miles.

The raids hit hardest at Le Havre, Boulogne, Calais, Dunkerque and Ostende — all scenes of German barge and troop concentrations.

Britain's naval action in the Mediterranean was reported in a communique by the Italian high command, which said the English men o'war attacked fascist troops advancing from Bardia, in Italian Libya, toward Sidi Barrani, 60 miles inside Egypt, already occupied by the blackshirt advance guard.

"Our air force bombed them (the British ships), forced them to suspend action and put them to flight," Mussolini's high command asserted.

"A 10,000-ton cruiser was hit by a torpedo dropped by one of our torpedo planes and was seriously damaged."

No figures were given for Italian troop casualties.

Air Siege At New Peak

With the air siege of England reaching a new peak of destructiveness, correspondents at Dover reported the channel was still far too rough for the passage of an invasion armada, and for the first time the Nazi press in Berlin dropped hints that the war might continue through the winter.

If true, Britain appears to have won the first vital round of the war—the fight to stave off defeat until she can muster her great empire forces for the counter-offensive in 1941 heralded by Prime Minister Churchill.

"Important only is total success," said one Berlin newspaper. "Weather, time and speculations about the approaching winter don't count."

Reichsmarshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering's newspaper, the National Zeitung, took a more positive tone, however, declaring:

"The next mission of the (Rome-Berlin) allies is the unification of all the powers of Italy and Germany for the last round battle against Britain, which is now in a decisive stage."

Berlin reported the weather was "ideal" for relentless major air attacks on England and said Nazi

Signs Multiply That Hitler Planning Postpone Invasion of England to Aid Italy In Mediterranean Control Fight

By DeWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Staff Writer.

Signs multiply that Hitler, foreseeing the possibility he may have to postpone his projected invasion of England, is preparing to cast his weight into the battle of the Mediterranean with Mussolini in an effort to crack the British Empire from this fresh point of assault.

Britain's domination of the Mediterranean is one of the imperial foundation stones. It ranks next in importance to the security of Mother England herself—indeed, it might be argued that the two are of equal moment.

As I see it, should this new strategic move be made Hitler will continue his efforts to reduce the British Isles to impotence by bombing. In particular he will try to force capitulation of London or level this ancient capital.

There is no indication that he has as yet abandoned his dangerous scheme of invasion, although he is hard pushed by the circumstance that time and tide of the English channel wait for no man—not even the Nazi fuehrer. In any event he cannot relax his air assault and thus aid England to strengthen its position. He still has vast power to throw to the assistance of his partner.

Support for this idea of a shift in tactics is seen by many observers in Nazi Foreign Minister Von Ribbentrop's arrival in Rome today for a conference with Mussolini. Special significance is attached to the fact that this follows the visit of Spanish Minister of Interior Suner to Berlin—a visit widely interpreted as having to do with an effort to identify Spain more closely with the Berlin-Rome axis activities.

It would be hard to believe that Spanish Generalissimo Franco's actual participation in the war isn't under discussion. However, in view of his country's great weakness as the result of the civil war, it might be that he would be asked to make his initial contribution a grant of bases in his territory for German and Italian operations against Gibraltar and the western Mediterrnean. Hitler's control of France right up against the Spanish border would favor such an arrangement.

In connection with the battle of the Mediterranean, one of America's foremost petroleum authorities tells me he is absolutely confident that the Berlin-Rome axis is being forced to push this campaign because of grave shortage of lubricating oils, without which manufacturing must collapse.

He says the situation is so bad that if Hitler and Mussolini can't smash Britain within the next four or five months, thereby breaking the blockade, they will be faced with the absolute necessity of capturing the great Iraq oil fields, now controlled by England.

Possession of the Iraq fields naturally would be of small value to the axis unless it had transportation through the Mediterranean. This means control of that sea.

My expert, whose name I cannot give, says there is such a tremendous shortage of lubricating oils in Europe that all continental countries are crippled raiders during the night had bombed Liverpool, Newcastle and Billingham as well as London.

The semi-official German press raged at new British night raids over Germany—striking at Bethel, Hamburg, Oldenburg and Osnabrueck—and asserted that the RAF was conducting a "treacherous" campaign to lay 12 German cities in ruins.

Farmhouses, three hospitals and a charitable institution were hit by British bombs, authorized Nazis said, killing nine and wounding 12.

London reported a German bomb exploded in the courtyard of the world-famous British Museum, containing many rare treasures and the world's largest collection of printed books, but the treasures either had been removed or were protected against injury. Oxford and Regent streets in the busy west end were closed to motor traffic as work crews cleared away heaps of debris.

New Type Fire Bombs

Fat, explosive fire-bombs of a new type showered on the London area during the 12th consecutive night-long raid, lasting nine hours and 34 minutes, and countless fires were set. Mayfair again suffered heavily.

The destruction spread from one rim of the city to another.

But even so, said the British, the great city's communications were not disorganized and its population—under air alarm two-thirds of the time since Tuesday night—was not demoralized.

Axis diplomatic attention was focused on Rome where German foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop journeyed today for conversations on the next moves of Germany and Italy.

Berlin commentators pictured a "brave new era" just around the corner—world without a dominant Britain. Hints were thrown out that the future of Spain, Egypt—and even distant America—in the setup to come conceivably might be among the broader subjects discussed.

More than 1,000 persons marched through fire-lit streets from shelter more than 60 feet underground when one mammoth bomb hit a famous London building above them and set it ablaze.

Many persons were feared to be still entombed under the debris of several buildings which collapsed when a raider crashed on them with a full load of bombs.

A rescue party, trying to dig out a man whose body was partly exposed, was trapped after an all-night struggle when a wall collapsed. But a second rescue party rescued their comrades, freed the trapped man and continued digging for others.

From nightfall Tuesday until today's dawn, Londoners had been under alarm fully two-thirds of the time.

Over Hundred Raids

With the German attacks thus sharply intensified—London had eight raids yesterday making a total of 103 for the war—the British censors today suddenly forbade publication of the times, both starting and ending, of new raid alarms.

But the British were not idle. The air ministry announced that Royal Air Force fliers delivered a terrific assault on German concentrations in "invasion ports" on French and Belgian coasts, including a "big attack" on the big French port of Le Havre and raids on Boulogne, Calais, Dunkersue anl Ostend.

"Invasion ports and shipping and barges" were attacked, the ministry said, as well as "marshalling yards in Germany and enemy-occupied territory."

The attack appeared to have been one of the biggest, if not the biggest, assault of the war on these German-held points. The British airmen were said to have left the French coast in flames for miles and miles.

The center of London underwent violent straffing from raiders who also dropped blazing oil bombs. Coughing men and women stumbled from swank apartments after the missiles scored direct hits.

An eight-pound iron guttering joint, hurtled from a considerable distance, landed on the roof of the Associated Press building.

Lord Croaft, undersecretary of state for war, announced that a large number of incendiary bombs had fallen recently on the Crelsea Royal hospital, an institution for 550 aged and invalid soldiers which fronts on the Thames. Pensioners put out the fires.

Two waitresses were killed and 15 other persons among 200 employed in the London County hall were injured when a tremendous bomb explosion recently rocked the structure.

Charles Latham, leader of the London county council, said that while the hall had sustained "some damage," civil defense and other services of the council were being maintained.

Bank of England Directors Meet.

LONDON, Sept. 19.—(AP)—The directors of the Bank of England met in the vaults far below street level today and, after hearing the report of Montagu Norman, governor, declared a 6 per cent dividend.

Norman commented briefly on the fact that the meeting had to be held "in this dreary catacomb instead of in a lovely hall."

The bank, he observed, had been "somewhat upset and interrupted getting on with its daily business." He also declared precautions have been taken which are expected to "ensure the bank's business will be carried on through all emergencies."

Censorship Tightened.

LONDON, Sept. 19.—(AP)—British censorship was tightened unexpectedly today to prevent publication or cabling of times of London air raid alarms.

The restriction applies to the start of alarms and the finish.

Censors said publication of the times of raids was considered prejudicial to security. The same reason often has been given for the prohibition against cabling or publication of specified locations and military objectives hit by bombs.

Bomb Explodes Near Duke

LONDON, Sept. 19.—(AP)—A time bomb exploded today within 80 yards of an automobile in which the Duke of Kent, youngest brother of King George VI, was visiting bombed areas of Southwest London. He was not injured.

Cheer Rulers Despite Ruins

LONDON, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Residents of Chelsea stood amid the ruins of their homes today and cheered King George and Queen Elizabeth as they inspected the bombed area.

May Turn to United States

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Great Britain, because of difficulties in maintaining plant operations and storage supplies under intensified German air raids, may turn to the United States for increasing amounts of processed farm commodities, the agriculture department said today.

Products affected, the department said, would include lard, meats, canned goods and other processed foods.

Demand on France Increased

LONDON, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Official British sources declared today that besides 20,000,000 reichsmarks (nominally $8,000,000) which France is required to pay each day for maintenance of the German army of occupation, the Germans have demanded 8,000,000 quintals (about 30,000,000 bushels) of wheat.

Wife of Naval Official Dies

LONDON, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Countess Stanhope, 51, wife of Earl Stanhope, former first lord of the admiralty, died today.

British Vice Admiral Dies

LONDON, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Death of Vice Admiral Basil George Washington while in active service at sea was announced today.

He retired in 1931 after 28 years in the royal navy, but returned to active duty this year. He was decorated for service in the world war.

British Bomb Bengasi

LONDON, Sept. 19.—(AP)—British naval planes bombed Bengasi on the coast of Italian Libya Monday, setting a merchant ship on fire and "probably" sinking a destroyer and damaging several other ships, the admiralty announced today.

Royal Air Force Praised

LISBON, Portugal, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Two Pan-American clippers took off on the rans-Atlantic passage by way of the Azores today.

Among the passengers are Major General Delos Emmons and Brigadier General George V. Strong, United States military observers returning from London where they witnessed the opening phase of Germany's air assault on Britain. They praised the work of the Royal Air Force and the Londoners' morale under bombing.

Strike at French Ports.

LONDON, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Royal Air Force bombers struck at nine French and Belgian ports last night causing "much damage" to shipping and military stores and starting many fires, the air ministry announced tonight.

The ministry said the raids also covered military distribution centers in Belgium and Germany. Seven British Planes failed to return.

German Planes in Mediterranean.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—(AP)—The British radio said today in a broadcast heard here by NBC. it has been definitely established that German air force planes are participating in Italian military operations in the Mediterranean.

Full Discussion Assured.

LONDON, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Clement R. Atlee, Lord Privy Seal, assured the House of Commons today that the members will have opportunity for the fullest discussion "before any union of the kind proposed to France is put forward in regard to the United States."

Just before France signed her armistice with Germany it was announced Prime Minister Winston Churchill had proposed a form of British-French union with common citizenship.

Churchill is prepared to give such assurance of discussion "if ever such a far reaching scheme were put forward," Atlee said.

On other questions relating to the United States, Sir John Anderson, home secretary, said he agreed "a liberal policy should be followed and steps have been taken at this end" to relax alien restrictions in cases of United States citizens "engaged in commerce or in any way assisting the allied cause."

GUARD UNIT

missioned a captain on Nov. 22, 1922 and on Nov. 29, 1922 the battery was accepted for service under his command. Business duties made it necessary for him to be relieved of command a few years later for a period of a few months, but since 1926 he has been the only commander of the unit.

Capt. Molloy began his military service as a member of Troop F, First Texas Cavalry, under Capt. C. A. Davis in 1917. While in training at Camp Bowie the regiment was converted into a field artillery organization on October 15, 1917. He was discharged from his unit at the end of the World war with the rank of sergeant.

When D Battery was organized in 1922 Molloy was enrolled with rank of sergeant, and was later commissioned first lieutenant. From 1925-32 he was out of the service but came back in the latter year with rank of a second lieutenant. In 1937, he was elevated to a captaincy and assigned to the second battalion and has served there since that time.

Checking of all equipment started Wednesday night and was being continued Thursday. The actual change in command was effective at midnight Friday, Sept. 13.

Mr. Pierce plans to leave Corsicana early Friday for New York to attend the annual meeting of the National Association of Retail Druggists. He is the chairman of the Texas delegation to the convention.

"Build-Up" Relief Explained to Women

A simple method has saved many women a lot of suffering!

It is based on the fact that headaches, nervousness, cramp-like pain are often symptoms of functional dysmenorrhea due to malnutrition.

Help for this condition so often follows the use of CARDUI, because it usually increases the appetite and the flow of gastric juice; thus aids digestion and helps build physical resistance. Usual result is less periodic distress.

Many who take CARDUI a few days before and during "the time" have found this helps ease periodic discomfort. Women have used CARDUI for more than 50 years!

Prominent Minister Visiting Relatives Kerens Community

KERENS, Sept. 17.—(Spl.)—Rev. William C. McClung of Philadelphia, Pa., is the guest of members of the A. G. McClung family this week. In his honor a family reunion was held on Sunday afternoon at the G. M. Chapman home, at which time some 50 or more relatives gathered and moving pictures were made of the group.

Rev. Mr. McClung, who is a Presbyterian minister, is an evangelist, who specializes in work among the children, having preached to them by the thousands in every state in the Union except four, and having done extensive work abroad, principally in England, Alaska and Palestine.

In the Holy Land, he was able to make a most interesting collection of moving pictures, as he does everywhere he goes. His slides are used in connection with his work to great advantage. He was a guest speaker at the First Methodist church on Sunday evening.

Corsicana Girls Act As Big Sisters Texas Freshmen

AUSTIN, Sept. 18.—(Spl.)—Serving as big sisters to the freshman girls at University of Texas dormitories is the task confronting three Corsicana girls, who will begin their duties as "upperclass advisers" when the university opens this week.

Corsicana girls serving as upperclass advisers are Mary Lou Smith at Jessie Andrews Dormitory, Judith Polk at Jessie Andrews Dormitory, and Margaret Sullivan at Helen M. Kirby Hall, Methodist dormitory.

Upperclass advisers are selected each year by dormitory staffs and residents for such qualities as dependability, co-operation, refinement, understanding, and scholarship.

OLD LAMPS FOR NEW PATHS; TODAY NEEDS ANCIENT WISDOM *

What and How People Think Is Present Problem—Sound Judgment From Accumulated Experience of the Race—Practical Sense of Book of Proverbs.

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS

As a traveller who has fared widely and often amidst the ancient and primitive peoples of earth I have been increasingly impressed with the everywhere present sense of what is right. A conception of justice and fair-dealing prevails amidst even the most untutored races. Some of the bitterest criticisms of the injustices wrought by European imperialisms have come to me from persons whom we label savages. In its long journey through the ages, humanity has acquired a practical wisdom that will never be outdated.

Most of this knowledge has been coined into proverbs which prevail in all lands. These proverbs are the common currency of thought. Before the general habit of reading enriched—and impoverished—the earth, what mankind had learned was compressed into proverbial form.

Old Lamps For New Times

Best-known of all collections of proverbs is the Old Testament book that bears that title. It is a compendium of practical wisdom. It is the distilled experience of the wise. This collection of wisdom does not soar to spiritual heights. It walks the common ways, where youth is prone to folly, and where men and women work and play, and buy and sell, and live together with one another.

Whitelaw Reid, the New York editor and diplomat, once counselled young men seeking success to saturate their minds with Book of Proverbs. No other volume, he declared, contains so much workable wisdom for youth who would get on in the world.

Here are old lamps for new times, a sure light upon present paths of life. The counsel of these pungent paragraphs is tested counsel. Many of the sayings were written by worldly-wise old King Solomon. Others have different authors assigned. All are doubtless a collection of current sayings in the Hebrew Kingdom of three thousand years ago. That they are more up to date than much modern philosophy is a tribute to the eternal quality of truth.

Our Bewildered Youth

For the past twenty years there has been a general tendency to give youth its head. Magazines have printed hundreds of articles presenting the youth viewpoint. Usually these have been marked by a cocksureness and egotism that were matched only by their callowness. Under the stimulus of scatter-brained professors, boys and girls have been tempted to throw into the discard all the accumulated experience of the race; including the obvious truth that youth is a time for learning, and not for teaching. Nothing has been sacred from the iconoclastic hands of these misguided youngsters. They have subjected the Ten Commandments to a questionnaire; disdained patriotism; scoffed at chastity and devoted both parental authority and religion old-fashioned. Their minds are a mess, unstabilized by the great loyalties, as their recent conventions have revealed.

Of course, all youth are not comprehended within this classification of "emancipated intellectuals." Myriads of boys and girls are still guided by the lights they learn to follow in their homes; lights transmitted from elder days, and shining most brightly in the pages of the Bible.

Solicitude For Sons

Very human and true to life, is Proverbs' tender solicitude for sons. Over and over again, the proverbs are addressed to "my son." What agonizing prayers and plans parents make to guide their sons in the ways of wisdom. "O, Daddy, you are so old-fashioned," I heard a daughter say. Like most of her generation, she was keen to be "up to date," to be in step with these hectic times, callowly unconscious that the best things are timeless; and that modesty, obedience, kindliness, reverence and integrity are the old, old lamps that have lighted the long path of the race.

Parents want their children to live intelligently and purposely; not as silly infants following the day's Pied Pipers. The woe of wickedness and the rewards of righteousness, are no passing fashions, but lessons learned in the timeless school of real life. Dripping blood, the cry, "My son! My son," goes up daily from countless father and mother hearts.

A Book To Ponder

The two current Sunday School Lessons on Proverbs should stimulate a wide reading of the whole book. It is full of salty sayings, and glimpses into the follies and sins of flesh-and-blood human beings. Its compact counsels stick, and afford light in moments of decision. If every youth in the land would read this volume daily for a months, there would be a widespread effect upon character. Much intellectual ferment would be cured; and the old loyalties would take on a new significance in a day when they are so sorely needed.

Most persons are reading too much and thinking too little. Here is a thought-starting book that enters into the very marrow of life. Its wisdom is for everyday practice. It begets common sense. Its teachings win the assent of the reader's own judgment. The Proverbs are like guide-posts upon the pathway of everyday. The reader is admonished that,

"When thou goest, thy steps shall not be straitened;
And if thou runnest thou shalt not stumble."

Apart From The Crowd

One by one, the Proverbs are directed to readers, one by one. They are definitely opposed to the crowd instinct, which is youth's greatest peril. Proverbs tell us not to follow a multitude to do evil. Subservience to mass opinion is the strongest force in society, and the most dangerous. The moral and mental level of a collection of persons is usually lower than that of the individual members thereof. Those who would lead others must dare to differ with the majority. To live one's own life; to think one's own thoughts, is the wisdom enjoined over and over again by this hand book of character-building.

One passage from our assigned chapter sums it all up:

"Keep thy heart with all diligence;
For out of it are the issues of life."

SEVEN SENTENCE SERMONS

After crosses and losses men grow humbler and wiser.—Franklin.

Where freedom makes her home, there is the center of power.
—Maurice Thompson.

Not in the clamor of the crowded street,
But in ourselves are triumph and defeat.
—Longfellow.

He who cannot forgive others breaks the bridge over which he must pass himself, for we all need to be forgiven.—Lord Herbert.

Blessed are they that keep His testimonies, and that seek Him with the whole heart.—Psalm 119:2.

Quick obedience to the highest one knows is the easiest gateway to the highest good one is capable of receiving.—Anon.

Though time be precious to me, as all irrevocable good things deserve to be, and of all other things I would not be lavish of it, yet I will account no time lost that is either lent to or bestowed upon my friend. —Bishop Hall.

NEW ATTACK UPON CANCER IS PLANNED THROUGH VITAMIN K

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 18.—(AP)—A new attack on cancer, trying vitamin K as a possible preventative, was announced to the biennial conference of the University of Pennsylvania here today.

K is the recently discovered vitamin which aids blood to clot. Alfalfa is rich in K. But an inexhaustible new source has been supplied by chemists who synthesized K in five forms.

The cancer prevention experiments are starting at Harvard University and were described by Dr. Louis F. Fieser, professor of chemistry.

The K will be tried on a common form of skin cancer caused by tarry substances.

In animals it is only necessary to rub some of the tarry "hydrocarbon on the skin and lethal cancers develop. The vitamin will be injected to see whether its presence will prevent these cancers.

The experiment is exactly like a prize fight. K is the "second" at the ringside, and the real cancer fighter is prothrombin, the clotting substance in blood. K stimulates human and animal bodies to make prothrombin.

Experiments have shown also that bile acid and hormones, which humans possess in abundance, are able to breaw down into some of the tar chemicals which are most potent in causing cancer.

When these cancer chemicals were fed to rabbits, the animals' bodies changed them into harmless compounds. Whether this protector of the rabbits was ptothhombin, or something still unknown, the Harvard experiments promise important information.

RAIL COMMISSION WITHDRAWS PROTEST LOCAL INTERURBAN

AUSTIN, Sept. 18.—Protest against abandonment by the Texas Electric Railway Company of interurban operations between Dallas and Corsicana was withdrawan Tuesday by the State Railroad Commission.

Because of the Commission's protest, the Interstate Commerce Commission had set the application for hearing Oct. 4 at Corsicana. It is believed the scheduled hearing will be cancelled as it was set to hear the Railway Commission protest.

Abandonment of Dallas-Corsicana operations, which now provide eleven round trips daily, still would leave interurban service between Dallas and Waco, and Dallas and Denison. The line was put in operation, Oct. 20, 1913.

Decline in traffic had decreased revenue on the 51.8 mile line from $346,890 to $94,233 in ten years, the company's application to the ICC recited. Among the reasons attributed by the company for business decline was the government's cotton reduction program. Also cited was expansion of motor bus and truck operations along the route.

CORSICANA, TEX., SEPT. 20, 1940

GET A MOVE ON.

An organization of prominent Americans has been demanding, for some time, open and more effective help to Britain, for the sake of world democracy and our own welfare, by measures short of war. And sentiment along this line has grown as Congress dawdled in its defense program.

There is a noticeable increase lately in private efforts along this line. An insurance company, for instance, has been publishing display ads with a punch in them, like this: "Americans, Wake Up! Either help England defeat Germany or fight Germany alone! Could we defeat Germany if it had the British fleet? Telegraph or write your senators and representatives to support all re-armament measures and the bill for selective compulsory military service." And it ends with "For God's sake—Hurry Up!"

This may seem hysterical to some people. But in all soberness, it is dangerous to waste time and very urgent to get this nation on an effective basis of defense as quickly as possible.

CCC FOR WELL-TO-DO.

A new policy has developed in the Civilian Conservation Corps which has been overlooked in the presence of world-shaking events elsewhere. Enlistment is now open to any unemployed youth between 17 and 23 regardless of his family's financial status. There are no millionaires' sons enrolled, but apparently there could be if they sought CCC training.

One county selecting agent for the CCC reports nearly 150 boys whose families have monthly incomes of $100 to $175 a month, ten with families in the $176 to $300 a month range, and one whose listed family income is above that point.

"It would be a good thing for the rich kid if he did get in," this official says.

Probably he's right. The CCC boys have done much useful work for their country, of which soil conservation and forest fire prevention are only two cut of many items. The sense of usefulness and accomplishment thus developed may be quite as important in the long run as the small earning and the education, training for special skills, camp life, improvement in health, and so on, which are all phases of the CCC program and practice.

AIR TRAINING

The air-minded office girl in Los Angeles who learned to fly solo in one day may have contributed, as she hopes, "something important to aviation." Obviously Angel Stevens could not make herself a finished pilot between dawn and dark of one day, but it is a great deal to have started at scratch in the morning and made a successful solo flight in the evening.

Canada, which at present is producing military flyers for Britain on an unprecedented scale, has reduced to four months the time of turning out a war pilot. That is perhaps the most exacting of all forms of aviation. But in the light of such a performance as the one mentioned, further economy of training time may be expected.

Men in public life, while usually good at theories and principles, are apt to be wobbly about figures.

JUST FOLKS

(Copyright, 1937, Edgar A. Guest)

HAPPY COUPLE

They do not mean they've always been
Untouched by care or stormy weather.
They merely say from day to day
They've braved all things of life together.
They tell us they were happy years
In spite of heartche, hurt and tears.

And if we were to pin them down
Who say their days have all been pleasant,
We'd find misunderstanding's frown
And doubt and fear had oft been present.
For what they mean is they'd been glad
Ini spite of all the cares they'd had.

Glad that the frowning didn't last,
Happy in spite of loss or grieving,
And once the stormy day had past
East in the other still believing.
Troubles and differences? Yes,
But summed up now as happiness.

NATIONAL ASSETS

The British people today are their own best asset. Their wealth and manufacturing power, their warships and merchant ships and submarines and airplanes, are all important, but it is flesh and blood and brain and nerve, that are saving them from defeat and slavery.

Lord Beaverbrook, minister of aircraft production, was very matter-of-fact about it in a compliment he paid his fellow-Britions the other day. Referring to the record production of fighting and bombing planes, he said:

"The brave defenders of the liberties of Britain, ignoring air raids and indifferent to enemy attacks, have provided for the R. A. F. in the last week more fighters and bombers than ever before in the history of aviation. Supported by the alloy workers in steel and aluminum, by the drop stampers and forgers and by all those who labor in the fabrication of raw materials, they have given us a record week of production."

So the nation was just that much safer, from the valiant work of its soldiers of industry. Americans should give credit here. Our first defenses are the brain and blood of millions of unassuming workmen in our mills and factories. And then we must reckon, too, the farmers and business men and professional men and all the rest.

SILKS AND SOCKS

The statisticians seem deeply concerned about the market for silk hosiery. The June total seems to have dropped about 14 per cent from that of the year before. The total for the first half of the year was about four per cent less. Introduction of the nylons does not account for the drop—they are included in the total amount.

The learned gentlemen who figure these things go deeply into mathematics and economics and still don't know the answer. But Mother says it's easy. It has nothing to do with efforts at economy or feeling against Japan. The young folks go into slacks with cotton socks at every available opportunity. The cotton socks wear longer than the silken sheers and that's all there is to it

Mebbe so. Even Mother is sometimes right.

SOLD WARSHIPS

Somebody who has been reading history reports that during our Spanish-American war, when the United States sadly needed warships, Great Britain sold us two newly built cruisers. They were the New Orleans and the Albany, built at Barrow-in-Furness, England.

The final, official date for Nazi victory is now said to be Sept. 15, and we'll be watching for Adolf to wrap the Aurora-Borealis around him and go up and kick the stars off the Milky Way.

We Americans don't worry as long as we have all the money we need to buy all the gas we want.

Old Man Weather may get Hitler yet.

THE LOST "PETROL"

FRANK KEATHLEY TO CONTINUE TRAINING FOR NAVAL RESERVE

RETURNS FROM EXTENSIVE CRUISE; REPORTS FOR DUTY SOON IN NEW YORK

Returning home after a month of intensive training with the United States Navy, Frank Keathley, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Keathley of this city, told of actions being taken by naval authorities in regard to training sufficient reserve officers to meet the growing needs of the nation's vastly expanding battle fleets.

The navy is now selecting young men with at least two years of college work and training them to augment its reserve of officers, subject to call in the event of a national emergency, he said. Under the new program, he continued, the young officers are taken on cruises lasting about one month each, during which they are thoroughly acquainted with the rudiments of naval life. The men are then assigned to training schools as mid-shipmen where they are given further training in the arts of naval warfare. From these schools they are graduated commissioned ensigns and sent aboard warships for one year of intensive training with the navy, Keathley explained. It is expected that each man graduating will continue for at least one year in the service; although it is not compulsory, he added.

Keathley stated that in his particular squadron there were three battleships, the Arkansas, Wyoming, and New York, serving as training ships. He said each ship carried a skelton crew of 500 men and a class of 500 apprentice seamen.

Visit Cuba

Embarking at New York, Keathley said they cruised down the Atlantic seaboard to the American naval base at Guantanamo, Cuba, where they were allowed to go ashore and inspect the famed destroyer base. The cruise was so arranged, he said, as to allow one day in port for every five days at sea.

In similated battle maneuvers, during which the battleships were stripped of every excessive fixture including life boats and safety chains, the ships attacked and sank a disabled motor launch worth approximately $18,000, he said.

Pointing out that although they did not drop anchor, the cruise touched several of the islands taken over by the United States from Great Britain to be used as naval bases. The islands are close together and form a veritable chain across the Caribbean sea, he said. Their geographical location forms a natural defense unit for the Panama Canal, he added, pointing out that it was the opinion of naval experts that naval bases, established at certain points along the chain, would make the waterway between the Atlantic and the Pacific practically impregnable.

Inspects Panama Canal

Dropping anchor at the entrance to the Panama canal, he said the group was taken ashore to inspect the full length of the canal. Keathley stated that he was particularly impressed with the powerful defenses of the zone, stating that entrance to the Panama harbor was heavily mined in addition to being covered by powerful shore guns. Anti-aircraft guns are mounted the entire distance of the canal, he said, and are fully manned day and night. As an example of the efficiency of the anti-aircraft batteries, he stated that while he was there, a military plane, in a mock attack on the canal at night, was kept in the search lights the entire 54 miles across the Isthmus. The pilot maneuvered his plane with all the skill at his command but was unable to throw off the search lights, he added.

Regarding canal zone regulations, Keathley said that before ships are allowed to enter the waterway, they are given a thorough inspection as a matter of precaution against bombs and false bottoms by which mines can be laid.

The canal is fairly bristling with defense weapons, especially anti-aircraft batteries, and the powerful shore guns could wreak devastation on any one or a group of battleships approaching either entrance, he stated, adding that the Americans also have large squadrons of airplanes to assist in repelling any possible attack.

Commenting on training activities aboard ship, Keathley said they were taught seamanship, navigation, gunnery, and engineering. One week was devoted to the study of each subject, he added.

He said he would return to New York, November 22 ,to enter the mid-shipman school there for three months of basic training before boarding a battleship as a commissioned ensign.

Former Corsicanan Buried In Houston

The funeral for Mrs. S. H. Hurlock, formerly Miss Frankie Haynes of this city, was held in Houston Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The deceased, a sister-in-law of Mrs. G. Frank Haslam of this city, passed away in Houston Sunday.

ELECTION PRECINCT CHAIRMEN SUPERVISE REGISTRATION OCT. 16

SAME OFFICIALS WILL ALSO HOLD COUNTY-WIDE BEER ELECTION SEPT. 27

Forty eight general election precinct chairmen of Navarro county will supervise the registration of all men of the county between the ages of 21 and 45 years, October 16, in the nation-wide registration process in the defense program.

As state and federal executives take preliminary steps in this vast peace-time conscription program, it was not known here who will constitute the county board, but the records of the county clerk's office reveal the general election judges as appointed by the commissioners' court in February to hold the general election in November. The same presiding judges will also be in charge of the county-wide beer election, Friday, September 27.

Reports from Austin indicate Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel will issue the proper proclamation directing these officials to conduct the registrations. Those eligible for the draft will register between the hours of 7 a. m. and 9 p. m.

The registration sites will be those customarily used for holding elections.

The 48 precinct chairmen are: Ward 1, Corsicana, W. F. Morris; Ward 2, Corsicana, Horace Carson; Ward 3, Corsicana, George W. Boyd; Ward 4, Corsicana, J. D. Carroll; 5, Angus, L. P. Sunday School Of Kerens Baptists Seek 500 Pupils

KERENS, Sept. 17.—(Spl.)—Beginning on the first Suhday in September with an attendance of 300 at Sunday school at the First Baptist church, a definite goal was set for each of the remaining Sundays of the month, to be climaxed on the first Sunday in October by a goal of 500, the day to be known as Giant Rally Day. Every department which reached its attendanec goal will be credited with a touchdown in the prescribed game.

The fifth Sunday in September is designated as promotion day. At this time each Sunday school student, passing from the primary department to the junior, is presented with a good-sized leather-bound Bible, by the Sunday school. Promotion day exercises as planned will be presented in an interesting and attractive way.

Visiting Ministers Preached at Kerens

KERENS, Sept. 17.—(Spl.)—At the First Methodist church here Sunday, guest speakers filled the pulpit at both the morning and evening hours.

At 11 a. m. the Rev. Otis Sory, district superintendent, preached, while Rev. William C. McClung, children's evangelist, whose home is in Philadelphia, Pa., delivered h temessage at 8 p. m.

While the interior of the church auditorium and a number of classrooms are being completed, services are being held in the basement of the church.

On Tuesday evening, Sept. 17, at 8 o'clock, the church will be host to the League Union of the Corsicana district. Some 100 guests are expected.

CORSICANA LIVESTOCK AND AGRICULTURAL SHOW OPENS TUESDAY

Extensive Preparations Completed for Greatest Exposition In History

"Everything has been prepared and we are ready for the greatest fair in our history," was the concise statement of officials of the Corsicana Livestock and Agricultural Show which will present its third exposition in its $50,000 permanent plant east of the city next week. The fair will be formally inaugurated by a gigantic street parade at 10:30 Tuesday morning and the show will continue through Saturday night.

Included in the preparations for the 1940 show were arrangements for many enlarged departments in the general and livestock divisions, which a capacity showing of poultry is anticipated as usual. Several new departments have been added and others enlarged.

Other innovations included in this season's plans are special free entertainment features along the midway each evening beginning at 6 o'clock, a variety in the specialties at the nightly performances of the Texas championship rodeo, elimination of the admission charge to the carnival grounds, realignment and numbering of every seat in the rodeo stadium which will insure a seat for every ticket holder, and other items.

Work on the plans for the fair have been under way for several months and every possible preparation has been made for the success of the enterprise. Prize lists for the various departments amount to more than $2,200, an increase over last year.

Boys' Beef Show

Special attention has been paid during the year as usual to interesting the youth of Navarro and surrounding counties in the raising and feeding of quality livestock. Some two hundred boys are expected to have baby beef entries in this year's show, and a majority of them will be entered in the annual auction on Friday, Sept. 27 which is expected to draw buyers from a wide area.

Increased interest is anticipated this season in the dairy cattle department because of the inception early in the year of milk routes in the vicinity of Corsicana and in other sections of the county. A number of purebred animals have been imported into the county, and many of them will be on display during the five days of the show.

For the second consecutive year, the Sam Houston State Teachers' College Bearkat Band will be the official musical organization for the fair under the direction of C. R. Hackney. Beside playing for the various rodeo events, the band will present a number of concerts and other entertainment features.

Fair President

J. N. EDENS

Rodeo officials assert some of the best stock ever seen in a Texas performance will be used in the five big nights of this fair feature. Bucking horses and Brahma steers used each year at the Huntsville prison performances have been secured for the Corsicana show; these will be augmented by a number of mangy animals for the bulldogging, and some fast Brahma calves for the roping events. Arrangements have also been completed to speed up the handling of the stock each evening, assuring faster action throughout.

"Cheyenne of Southwest"

Three advertising trips were made by a large number of fair boosters to the territory surrounding Navarro county and a spokesman fora neighboring city applied the term "Cheyenne of the Southwest" to the Corsicana rodeo. The term was immediately adopted by the Corsicanans and officials are co-operating in every possible way to make the term true. Advance sales of rodeo tickets will be started at 1 o'clock next Monday at the chamber of commerce offices.

One of the outstanding features of the Corsicana fair since its inception has been the exhibition each year of purebred Herefords, and advance indications this season are the 1940 show will be the best in history. Nearly 150 animals have been entered from some of the finest herds in the Southwest. Among the breeders who will show in Corsicana are Black Largent of Granbury, W. H. Hammon of Wichita Falls, Jinkins and Jinkins of Galveston, Jim Hering of McGregor, Lanius Ranch of Godley, Joe Cross of Troup, Mitcham Ranch of Cisco, Harrisdale Farms of Fort Worth, and others in addition to the four local exhibitors which include Allison and Allison, Edens and Edens, R. L. Wheelock, and McKinney and McKinney. Brahmas will be exhibited by Joe D. Hughes of Houston and J. B. Daniel of Fairfield.

Officials of Fair

The exposition is staged each year by the Corsicana Livestock and Agricultural Show, a non-profit corporation. Officers of the association are J. N. Edens, president; Fred M. Allison, first vice-president; W. C. Stroube, second vice-president; F. H. Harvey, Jr., secretary-treasurer, and R. W. Knight, manager. Directors include J. N. Edens, Fred M. Allison, J. O. Burke, F. H. Harvey, Jr., H. M. Montgomery, R. L. Wheelock, J. M. Dyer, A. F. Mitchell, O. M. Rector, B. L. Sanders, W. E. McKinney, W. C. Stroube, Lowry Martin, J. Afton Burke, and Ralph R. Brown.

Committee chairmen include: General agriculture—H. C. Robinson; 4-H Clubs and FFA exhibits, R. L. Barron; beef cattle, Dr. Jack P. McKinney; dairy cattle, R. L. Harris; 4-H and FFA baby beeves Ralph Stell; vocational agriculture exhibits, Roy Cloud; poultry, Mark DeWitt; home demonstration clubs, Miss Clara Rettiger; girl's 4-H clubs, Mrs. S. B. Watson; swine, Frank Burross; sheep, G. H. Blankenship; traffic, Fred D. Prince; parade, Lt. Col John J. Garner; rodeo, W. E. McKinney; fine arts, Mrs. J. V. Noble; ticket sales, Ed M. Polk, Jr., and Robert Cooksey; ticket takers, T. L. Carlisle; commercial display space, Fred V. Blucher.

The 1940 version of the fair will be inaugurated again by a great street parade arranged by members of a special committee headed by Lt. Col. John J. Garner, and including Fred V. Blucher, Fred D. Prince, C. S. Dickens, Deen Allen Captain Festus A. Pierce, Joel C. Trimble, Herbert Lewis Hill, and Boyce Martin.

Parade 10:30 Tuesday

The procession will move off promptly at 10:30 Tuesday morning south on Main street to Seventh avenue then to Beaton, north on Beaton to Third Avenue and then east to Commerce, and will disband at Collin and Commerce.

Colonel Garner announced recently more than normal interest had been shown in the parade this year and an even larger attraction than last year's is now anticipated. An estimated 25,000 people saw the opening spectacle in 1939.

Efforts have been made to secure the highest type judges for the competition in the various departments and the list includes: Women's and girls' divisions, Miss Georgia Mae Evans of Waxahachie; general agriculture, C. H. Clarke of Hillsboro; Herefords, John C. Burns of Fort Worth; dairy cattle, Joe W. Ridgway, San Antonio; poultry, Roy McDonald of Dallas; swine and sheep, Fred Hale, Texas A. and M. College; milking shorthorns Earl Gibson, of Amarillo; vocational exhibits, Vernon F. Fitzhugh of Tyler; boys' baby beef, G. W. "Stud" Barnes, Texas A. and M. College; boys' showmanship, Rufus Peeples of Tehuacana.

All exhibit buildings will be open to the public as soon as the inaugural parade is completed and will remain open through Saturday.

Women's individual entries: Mrs. Isabell Melton, Mrs. Ruth Mitchell, Miss D'Oracy Hankerson.

An enlarged department has also been arranged for negroes this year under the direction of W. H. Phillips and Ezelle McClellan, Navarro county agents.

BEARKAT BEAUTIES WILL PERFORM AT RODEO

Most of those who attended the 1939 rodeo performances of the Corsicana Livestock and Agricultural Show remember the variety of entertainment presented by members of the Bearkat band from Sam Houston State Teachers College at Huntsville, prominently featured by specialties by the majorettes. Four of the young ladies who will participate in this year's show are shown above; from left to right, Margaret Fain, Valerie White, Verna Phears and Mary Lou O'Bannon.

MANY APPLICATIONS ONE-VARIETY COTTON GROUPS FOR CLASSING

COLLEGE STATION, Sept. 18.—(Spl.)—Applications from 568 one-variety cotton groups for free classing and market news service under the Smith-Doxey Act have been recommended to th Division of Cotton Marketing USDA for approval by the Texas Cotton Review Committee, E. A. Miller, agronomist of the Texas A. and M. Extension Service and chairman of the committee, has announced.

This is almost twice as many applications as the 287 received in 1939. The cotton will be classed by the USDA Agricultural Marketing Service, which maintains offices at Dallas, Austin, El Paso and Lubbock, and the grades and classes will be accepted by the Commodity Credit Corporation as the basis for making loans, Miller said.

The service enables farmers in the one-variety groups to know the official grade and staple of their cotton, as well as the price being paid for that type of cotton at the central markets

John W. Carpenter Presented County Registered Bull

An unexpected feature of the Corsicana Livestock and Agricultural Show next week will be an 18-months old registered Jersey bull presented to Navarro county by John W. Carpenter, president of the Texas Power & Light Co. and native of the county.

The presentation was made through the dairy committee of the Corsicana Chamber of Commerce headed by A. F. Mitchell, with the avowed purpose of aiding the 4-H club dairy projects in particular and the entire dairy program in general.

The animal was brought to Corsicana late Tuesday and will be on exhibition in the Jersey section of the livestock department throughout the fair.

MORE THAN MILLION FARM FAMILIES GET FREE MATTRESS

COLLEGE STATION, Sept. 18.—(Spl.)—More than 1,158,870 farm families in the nation, 191,990 of them in Texas, have been selected by county agricultural conservation committeemen as eligible to receive surplus cotton and ticking to make a mattress for home use. Nearly 306,000 low-income families in the country and 64,832 in Texas already have completed their mattresses, according to Mildred Horton, vice director and state home demonstration agent of the A. and M. College Extension Service.

Under the cotton mattress demonstration program begun in March this year, the Surplus Marketing Administration allotted 100,000 bales of surplus cotton to low income families on a basis of 50 pounds plus ticking to each family. County extension agents have directed the program with the help of local volunteer helpers, and the mattresses are made at community work centers. Texas has 2,200 such centers.

Nearly 500 counties in 17 states are now at work under the mattress program with 500 other counties getting their organization under way. Texas has 226 counties participating in the program, with 140 making mattresses currently, Miss Horton reports.

Demonstration work centers have been set up in more than 12,000 communities, and more than 58,000 farm men and women and older boys and girls have accepted responsibilities in getting the program under way in their communities. Volunteer leaders in Texas aggregate 25,047 with 17,053 of them women and 7,994 of them men.

Reports from the various states submitted to the Department of sult of these demonstrations there Agriculture indicate that as a reare many people who are encouraged to go home and make or renovate other mattresses.

McCormick to Attend Convention of Judges And Commissioners

E. D. (Dit) McCormick, Frost mayor and county judge-nominee, will attend the annual North Texas County Judges and Commissioners association convention at Greenville Thursday and Friday. He will extend an invitation for the 1941 annual convention to be held in Corsicana.

McCormick, Drew Gillen, Blooming Grove, county commissioner-nominee and E. Y. Cunningham county auditor, attended a government institute at Nacogdoches last week.

CORSICANA YOUNG PEOPLE'S UNION MET AT KERENS TUESDAY

The Corsicana Young People's Union met Tuesday night at the Methodist church in Kerens with about 85 young people and their workers present to hear a very interesting and educational program presented by the leaguers from the Eleventh Avenue Methodist church.

News items of importance were stressed in the mimic broadcast and following this, musical numbers were rendered by several of the young people from Eleventh Avenue.

The feature of the evening was a quiz hour conducted on similar lines to those that are on radio hookups.

Terry Sanders of Kerens, union president, presided over the business session and at this time resignations of the first vice presidnt, Earline Briggs of Rice, and two members of the membership committee, Dorothy Love, First Church and Miss Briggs were accepted. These vacancies occurred when the young ladies chose to enter college. New officers to fill these vacancies will be elected at the nert union meeting.

The president urged that all local league presidents be ready to make monthly reports at the next meeting in order that the various leagues might secure some new ideas to work with.

An interesting Bible quiz was held at the close of the business session, with everyone taking an enthusiastic part in it. Mrs. C. C. Sessions of Kerens directed this quiz.

Those appearing on the program from Eleventh Avenue church were Aubrey Poarch, William McPherson, Jo Peacock, Gladys Hayes, Velma Lee Morriman, Lyman Barnes, Margie Cravens, Milton Campbell, Van Elkins, Billy Watson, Chester Sprinkle and Jester Smith.

The next union meeting will be at Tupelo on October 15, with the Kerens youth furnishing the program.

Dr. Smith, who spent part of his boyhood days in Corsicana, where he attended the public schools, is an outstanding speaker.

Activities Report Local NYA Center

The girls of Group 2 have just completed another two weeks of work and group activity. At our regular house meeting Hosa M. Dortch, our house manager, presided. Mary A. Harrison was elected reporter.

Our work program during this period was centered around the construction of a frame garden. Mrs. Ruth Bettinger, supervisor of home management plans farm security; Miss Lucy Givens, district supervisor home management, Dallas; Miss Leona Givens, Dallas, and John Andy Autry assisted with the construction, followed by a lecture by Mrs. Bettinger.

We began construction on slip covers of blue upholstery fabric for our living room divan and a large chair; several of our girls have made aprons; we have also mended sheets.

Dorothy Smith, Dawson, suffered a broken foot Aug. 29; she will remain at home until she is able to return to work.

Visitors during this two weeks' period have included Mrs. Lee Brittain and daughter, Lois, of Frost; Elaine Coley, Mrs. Gus Hutchins and Georgia Nell Jacobs, Virgil Nokes and Jester Smith.

On Sept. 2 Bascom Lang spoke to the girls on "Developing Worthwhile Work Habits."

We have begun our Red Cross first aid course under the direction of Mrs. Mildred Horn, devoting Tuesday and Thursday evenings to this study. We plan to complete the work in early October.

Spend-the-night guests have included Miss Dorothy Dortch, and Miss Goldie Harrison. Dinner guests were Mrs. Virgil Sandlin, Miss Geline Adams and John Andy Autry.

Several of the girls attended the singing at the court house Friday night.

TEL Class of Kerens Baptist Sunday School In Social Session

KERENS, Sept. 18.—(Spl.)—The TEL Sunday school class of the First Baptist church met on last Friday afternoon for a delightful social hour, in the pretty rural home of Mrs. L. C. Vernon. Lovely arrangements of oleanders and early fall flowers enhanced the attractiveness of the spacious living room.

Fourteen members were present, and stood to sing "What a Friend We Have in Jesus." For the devotional the 27th Psalm was read, and was followed by prayer and an interesting Bible quiz, by Mrs. J. F. Queen.

The continued horrors of China as told by Mrs. W. D. Arnett, and the unfolding of an illustrative story, "The Right Decision" preceded a poem entitled 'The Christian Battle of Life," by Mrs. Sam Jennings.

The enjoyable meeting was closed by singing the beautiful hymn "Is Your Life a Channel of Blessing" as a duet by Mrs. P. H. Brister and Mrs. W. D. Arnett.

Assisted by her daughter, Mrs. G. W. Speed of Corsicana, who was a welcome guest, the hostess served a delicious and inviting plate after the meeting was adjourned into the social hour.

DELINQUENT TAX ROLL APPROVED BY COURT ON THURSDAY

Approval of the supplemental delinquent tax roll, tax matters and a discussion of procuring the right-of-way for Highway 31 from the Navarro-Hill county line to Dawson featured the special meeting of the commissioners court Thursday morning. All members of the ocurt were present except Commissioner C. O. Slaughter who was reported in Dallas as a member of the federal grand jury.

The supplemental roll was listed at $2,660.37. The 1939 delinquent tax roll amounted ta $39,205.63, with delinquent tax listed at $74,594.10.

Edgar Hutchins, delinquent tax attorney, said approximately 100 delinquent tax suits were being filed immediately returnable to the October term of the district court.

Delinquent tax collections thus far this month was reported at $5,400.

Paul H. Miller, county judge, advised the court he would go with C. C. Roddy, resident state highway engineer, to the Dawson area on right-of-way matters Friday.

The court voted to allow the payment of $40 to Conine Walker, deputy county clerk, as a paid vacation. She has worked since May, 1939, as a temporary deputy.

Famed Concello Troupes Are With Ringling Brothers

The Flying Concellos, world-famous aerialists with the great Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey Circus, which features Antoinette Concello, standing in the foreground.

While Europe has forged ahead in circus bareback riding and novelty offerings within the last decade, America has become the leading nation in the production of spectacular flying-return acts, thanks to the amazing skill and daring of the three Art Concello troupes, starring aloft in the big top of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey Circus, coming to Corsicana Tuesday, October 1, matinee and night.

Art Concello and Antoinette received their early training under Eddie Ward, of the famed Flying Wards, whose son Eddie is catcher for the Concello act over The Big Show's middle ring—the act in which Antoinette and Art leap. Antionette has won the plaudits of circus fliers the world over with her two-and-a-half and triple mid-air somersaults to hand catches. She is considered by all professionals as the greatest girl flier that ever lived. Of course, Art is tops among men leapers everywhere.

The Concellos are pre-eminent stars among the 800 artists of world renown with The Greatest Show on Earth this season—a season that marks the mobilization of the largest number of new and thrilling features in circus annals.

In the world's largest tent, now air-conditioned, performances will commence at 2:15 and 8:15 p. m. with "The Return of Marco Polo," super-spectacle of unprecedented magnitude and magnificence. This superb opening feature, created and costumed by Max Weldy, is presented under his personal direction. Weldy has achieved international fame.

ASSOCIATED PRESS STAFFMAN DECLARES NAMSOS WAS PICNIC

J. NORMAN LODGE GIVES FIRST NIGHT'S IMPRESSIONS OF LONDON ATTACK

(EDITOR'S NOTE: J. Norman Lodge of New York, World War veteran and Associated Press staffman who covered the German invasion of Norway, retreating on a British cruiser from Namsos under heavy fire, has just arrived in London from Dublin. Here are his first reactions.)

By J. NORMAN LODGE

LONDON, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Namsos was a picnic!

I was greeted upon my return from Dublin when my hotel was smacked by a big "Goering grenade."

Peacefully sleeping the sleep of the just, I was awakened by a terrific crash. A gust of wind smelling to high heaven of illuminating gas almost blew me out of bed.

Suddenly all the glass in the huge French windows showered upon me. A strong inward rush of wind was followed by one outward. My hat went whirling out into a West End street.

Hardly three minutes elapsed when a second detonation shook the very foundations and I went out of bed.

Eventually calm returned and I finished a fitful sleep, trying to realize I was no longer in peaceful Dublin.

Today I spent several hours trying to get into the hotel to check out.

The lobby was wrecked. The huge stairway leading into the lobby was gone. All of one side of the building, which occupied an entire city block, was windowless.

Twas a fine way to greet a man. Somehow I seem to have lost my sense of humor.

After Namsos I thought anything would be an anti-climax. I wish I was back in that 'peaceful' city of huge fjords where there are enormous fields in which to make oneself a small target.

Tonight I'm trying a new hotel. I hope Goering hasn't its number because this time I'm one floor nearer the roof and the room might be cold without windows.

MISSING CHILD IS FOUND IN CORNFIELD BY AIRPLANE PILOT

BELIEVED TO HAVE BEEN ABDUCTED AS GAVE NO INDICATION 3-DAY TRAMP

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Sept. 19.—(AP)—While a youthful farming couple rejoiced today—on their 18th wedding anniversary—over the safe return of their "baby" son after his strange disappearance four days ago, State police gravely decided it was a case of abduction and set out to find the kidnaper.

Sergeant Harry C. Johnson said he believed two-year-old Ronald Rumbaugh had been "placed" in a cornfield where an airplane pilot spotted him yesterday afternoon.

The pilot flew two miles to the Rumbaugh homestead, yelled to the boy's father and others, and guided them to the scene, thus ending a search by several dozen police and hundreds of volunteers.

The first thing the youngster said as his father, Ralph Rumbaugh, 34, grabbed and hugged him was:

"Daddy, look at the scratches on my leg." Then, "I'm hungry ....I want milk."

Hurried to a hospital, Ronald was given milk, and put to bed.

The police theory of abduction began when hospital authorities reported the boy showed no signs of fatigue or other effects expected if he had wandered coatless since vanishing from his home Sunday afternoon.

Johnson said the boy's light jumper suit was "not soiled much or torn," and a new pair of white shoes did not show the "wear and tear" of an outdoor tramp.

The sergeant said he believed someone had "snatched" the child—then, frightened by the cry aroused, left him in the cornfield, where he would soon be found.

GERMAN FOREIGN MINISTER TALKS WITH MUSSOLINI

NEXT TURN IN EUROPEAN WAR MAN HINGE ON CONSULTATION AXIS PARTNERS

ROME, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Adolf Hitler's foreign Minister, Joachim Von Ribbentrop, conferred with Premier Mussolini this afternoon and on this consultation may pivot the next turn in the European war.

Linked with the talks at Il Duce's Palazzo Venezia was the possibility of a broader war, with indications that Spain might be drawn in, at least to the extent of permitting an axis drive across her territory against Britain's Gibraltar stronghold.

The axis powers are determined on a "totalitarian" victory over Britain, according to Virginio Gayda, and in this fight to the finish other European nations are involved "not as spectators alone."

This comment by Italian fascism's editorial spokesman-in-chief gave considerable point to the axis council of war. Observers interpreted it as a reference to Spain's role.

Italian Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano and German and Italian ambassadors to each other's capital, Hans-George Viktor Von Mackenzen and Dino Alfieri, respectively, were present at the Palazzo Venezia meeting. It started short after 5 p.m. (9 a.m. correct CST).

Von Ribbentrop had come to Rome on an armored train like that given to Mussolini by Hitler. German troops manned anti-aircraft guns on the carriages.

ITALY HAS THROWN FOURTEEN DIVISIONS LIBYANS INTO ACTION

CLAIM HAVE DRIVEN BRITISH BACK IN DISORDERLY RETREAT IN EGYPT

ROME, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Italy has thrown 14 Libyan divisions (about 170,000 men) in addition to Italian troops into the drive into Egypt and pushed back the British in a disorderly retreat, Marshal Rodolfo Graziani reported to Premier Mussolini today.

The Italian commander's report was made as a high command communique disclosed that the British fleet and air force had bombed and shelled Italian positions along 350 miles of the Egyptian and Libyan coast, as well as in East Africa and the Dodecanese Islands, in the eastern Mediterranean.

Graziani was reported to have told Mussolini he used 2,000 motor trucks in the eastward drive which surprised the British.

The British fled in disorder, abandoning equipment along the desert roads, losing more than half their tanks and armored cars, and suffering from shortage of gasoline and water under the bombing and machine-gunning of the Italian air force, the marshal reported.

The high command's communique declared Italian warplanes had compelled the British fleet to break off its coastal bombardment, intended to check the thus far rapid Italian drive into Egypt.

British air attacks on seven Italian bases in Eritrea, Ethiopia, British Somaliland and Italian Somaliland, resulting in seven killed and 13 wounded but "insignificant" damages, also were reported.

Put Fleet to Flight

Italian bombers and fighters put the British fleet to flight and seriously damaged a 10,000-ton cruiser with an aerial torpedo when the warships closed in to shell Italy's new positions and communication lines between Bardia and newly-seized Sidi Barrani, Egypt, the communique said.

The British evidently aimed at disrupting Italy's transport of water and fuel from her Libyan bases.

Reports from Cairo said British land forces continued to harass the steady Italian advance, but still refrained from major action, apparently preferring to choose their own time and place for a stand.

(The British said Italian inroads were not such as to place Egypt in jeopardy, and added that no additional Italian troops had crossed the Libyan-Egyptian frontier in 36 hours.

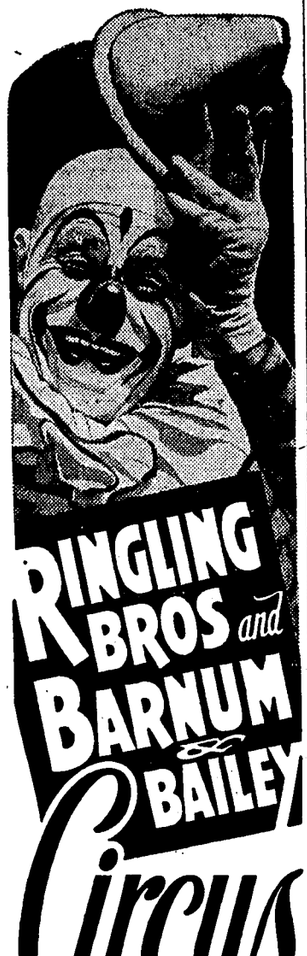

(Royal air force planes laid down a heavy bombardment on fascist troops at Sidi Barrani, British military headquarters said.)

Oppose More Than Eight Years

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—(AP)—John W. Davis, the democratic presidential nominee of 1924, told a senate subcommittee today that he would not trust "the expanding, the fateful powers of the presidency" to any man for more than eight years.

Appearing before the subcommittee in support of a proposed constitutional amendment to limit presidents to one term of six years, Davis, an attorney, also said in a prepared statement that he refused "to believe that in this land of general enlightenment, any man in any post is ever indispensable."

DEFENSE

and Missouri; and 36th division from Texas.

They have been assigned already to Camp Blaning, Fla., Camp Robinson, Ark., and Brownwood, Tex., respectively.

In discussing plane orders Stimson gave no delivery dates.

In addition to the plane and guard announcements he said also:

Construction of Barracks

Construction of barracks and other facilities for an aggregate of more than 100,000 troops had been authorized at seven military posts. The posts and the number of soldiers to be provided for at each include Camp Hulen, Tex., anti-aircraft firing centers, 70,000 men; Fort Bliss, Tex., national guard artillery regiments, observation squadron and cavalry brigade, 12,000 men.

Stimson said in response to questions that the department had no intention of setting up officers training camps in connection with the draft since there was a reservoir of 120,000 reserve officers already available.

In his review of defense progress, Stimson said the acquisition of island basis from Great Britain represented a virtual extension of the American first line of defense, providing bases of operation for the army air corps as well as for the navy.

Acquisition of the bases was described by the war secretary of among the most important defense steps taken, ranking in his estimate along with enactment of selective service and the intensive training of regulars and national guardsmen.

Cavalry to Be Moved

The department said the 56th cavalry, after being stationed temporarily at Fort Bliss, would be moved to the border about February 1 to take over the garrisons from certain units of the first cavalry division of the regular army, which will then be concentrated at Fort Bliss.

Units of the fourth increment to be called November 25, states from which they come, and posts to which they will be assigned were announced tentatively as follows:

35th division (less 35th tank company) Nebraska, Kansas, and Missouri, to Camp Robinson, Ark.

36th division (less 36th tank company), Texas, to Brownwood, Texas.

110th observation squadron, Mo., to Little Rock, Ark.

111th observation squadron, Texas, to Brownwood, Texas.

106th cavalry (horse-mechanized), Ill., to Camp Beauregard, La.

147th field artillery, S. D., to Camp Ord, Calif.

102nd radio intelligence company, Calif., to Camp, Ord, Calif.

In announcing that funds had been allocated and construction initiated for ten tent camps, the war department said their eventual maximum strengths would be approximately, as follows:

Brownwood, Tex., 27,000; Camp McQuaide, Calif., 2,000; Fort Sill, Okla., 25,000.

To Increase Goods Demand

ROCKFORD, Ill., Sept. 19.—(AP)—Defense program appropriations will increase the demand for all kinds of consumer goods, Secretary of Labor Francis Perkins said today.

The defense program will create 4,400,000 man-years of labor, Miss Perkins declared in a prepared address to the Illinois Federation of Labor convention.

Would Send Firemen to London

STILLWATER, Okla., Sept. 19.—(AP)—Negotiations were under way to send 25 American firemen to London to study new methods of quenching bomb-set fires.

The plan was announced by J. Ray Pence, Stillwater fire chief and secretary-treasurer of the International Association of Fire Department Instructors. He was awaiting approval of United States officials and sanction of London fire-fighting authorities.

Linking the proposed expedition with the national defense program, Pence said that after six months experience in the combat area, the American firemen would return and train their colleagues in wartime fire-fighting technique.

"Fire-fighters are almost as important in this war as aviators," said Pence.

If his plan is adopted, volunteers for the English trip would be selected throughout the United States.

Legion Told Protection Lacking.

BOSTON, Sept. 19.—(AP)—The chairman of the American Legion's national defense committee asserted today that "America thus far has preparedness only on paper."

"Although great publicity has been given to preliminary preparations for national defense, but little specific accomplishment can as yet be pointed to" declared Warren H. Atherton of Stockton, Cal., in his annual report prepared for the legion's 22nd annual convention opening next week.

Atherton said that while "current plans are a splendid start we must keep in mind that time is an important factor in adequate preparedness. x x x

"Until dollars and orders have been converted into armament, planes and ships," he said, "they are of little protection in a war."

How It Works.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Holding the German library of information to be an agency of the German government and thus diplomatically immune to state laws, Magistrate Charles G. Keutgen today dismissed charges of penal code violations against Dr. Mathias Schmitz, director of the organization.

"However contemptible the defendant may be in other respects" said the court's decision, "he is charged here with a narrow, technical offense and a great disservice would be done to any government of laws if the defendants were to be punished otherwise than in accordance with law."

Former Magistrate Joseph Goldstein, who had accused the library of being a propaganda organization, had Dr. Schmitz summoned into court six days ago, on a charge of failing to register the library as a business corporation.

Texas U. Naval Reserve.

AUSTIN, Sept. 19.—(AP)—The University of Texas—150 or more miles from Coastal Waters—today began organizing a naval reserve officers training corps of 100 students.

Capt. H. W. Underwood, U. S. Navy, started interviewing 300 prospective students.

Hoover Speaks.

PHILADELPHIA Sept. 19.—(AP)—Mobilization of "our industrial efficiency" is America's primary defense, says Former President Herbert Hoover, because "in the situation today we much have preparedness in economic ideas as well as in arms if we are to defend" the nation.

He warned an economic symposium at the University of Pennsylvania's Bicentennial celebration last night that if the United States enters the European war "we would inevitably become a totalitarian dictatorship" and added that:

"Any hope of manifold free economy in the would would be gone for a generation."

Public Health Committee.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—(AP)—President Roosevelt named today a committee to cooperate with the defense commission on all phases of public health as an additional means of strengthening the nation for any emergency.

Named as chairman was Dr. Irvin Abell of Louisville, Ky., chairman of the board of the regents of the American College of Surgeons.

HEALTH, BEAUTY AND POISE

By VERONICA DENGEL

ROOM TRANSFORMATION.

I am in the throes of doing over my bedroom—and I'm having such fun, because I am doing part of the work myself. Shall I tell you about it? Perhaps the color or scheme will be of interest to you, and suggest something you can do with your room.

Veronica Dengel

It is quite a large room, but with just one very large window. The walls are a dead white, and the floor is covered with an Oriental rug in apricot and white as the chief colors. The bed, dresser and chest are in dark mahogany, as well as the two night tables which are placed on either side of the bed.

On the opposite wall facing the bed is a large vanity table with a mirrored top, and the wall is covered with a mirror the exact length of the table—about 53 inches.

First of all, I am having the bed changed in this way: The foot is being removed and a low board with feet is to take its place. I shall store the footboard in case I want to put it back some time later. The headboard—which is now plain polished wood, I am having upholstered in a tufted effect in apricot satin. The bedspread which will come to the floor on the sides and at the foot—to cover the whole thing—will be in the apricot satin as well; perfectly plain.

A new chaise lounge is being covered in a striped satin with apricot as the background and the stripes of pale pink, tan, and green. This is something I have been wanting for a long, long time, and am quite thrilled about.) It is divided into three sections, so that when it is separated, I have a chair, and an ottoman, and the foot which has a low back becomes the chair at the vanity table. The frame is lightly carved.

All this I am having done; but —I am making the skirt for the vanity table myself, as well as the overdrapes for the window. The skirt will be lovely, I think —I'm half through. It is a light tan-colored, embroidered silk net. It is very full, and shirred over a peachy-pink taffeta. A five inch band with several rows of shirring fits around the sides just below the mirror and gives a graceful line to the skirt. Little French flowers will be placed at four or five different spots on the net. Two tall crystal lamp bases will have new shades in pink and lace, and my little jars on the table are in soft, old pink colors.

The drapes are to be a beautiful soft old green faille taffeta with a flowered design that continues the apricot, pink, and tan tones. And I am interlining them, too! The glass curtain, which I can use again this year, is in pink Ninon. I have to find new shades for the bedside lamps, and the only ornament on the dresser is a vase of flowers. The low table next to the chaise lounge will also have flowers; but it doesn't need a lamp because it is so close to the vanity lamps.

I can't wait to get it all finished, because then I have to start on my daughter's room.

industrially and commercially. He points out that while gasoline can be made synthetically, lubricating oils cannot, but must come from petroleum.

While we are on the subject of oil, I have been asked by a reader to give an estimate of Germany's gas consumption in bombing. I'm sorry but the best we can say is that the amount used is huge, and that future gas supplies undoubtedly are one of the great worries of both Hitler and Il Duce.

I put this question to the expert, who would know the answer if anybody did outside the high axis officials. He threw up his hands and said that any figure wold be pure guesswork and worthless. Anyway, he believes the vital thing is lublicating oil because all manufacturing by machinery, including war industries, depends on it. As I have said, gasoline can be produced synthetically.

STOCK MARKET TOOK BREATHING SPELL IN ADVANCING TENDENCY

By VICTOR EUBANK

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—(AP)—The stock market indulged in a breathing spell today after four successive rising sessions.

Steels led the list on a modest forward jaunt in the forenoon. Gains at the best ran to a point or so for pivotals.

Top marks were cut or cancelled at the close as an assortment of medium-sized minus signs was in evidence.

Transfers were in the vicinity of 500,000 shares.

Market brakes still were seen in the war, politicis and taxes, but none of these was particularly disturbing to speculative sentiment. Brokers suggested the extended rally inspired profit selling here and there on the possibility a technical setback of at least minor proportions might be in the offing.

Stocks in front at one time or another included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic Steel preferred, Jones and Laughlin preferred, Sears Roebuck, Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, American Smelting, Phelps Dodge, Pennsylvania, Chesapeake and Ohio, Loft, Pathe, General Electric, Union Carbide and Texas Corp.

A more than seasonal upturn in last week's freight loadings, with the total at a new top since last November, brought mild support for some of the transportation shares.

Democrats to Assist Willkie

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 19.—(AP)—A group of deocrats assembled here today to discuss plans for assisting the campaign of Wendell L. Willkie, republican presidential nominee, in traditionally democratic "solid south."

The conference was called by L. W. (Pat) Casey, Houston, Tex., businessman, who said delegations were expected from Texas, Tennessee, Louisiana, Alabama, Florida, South and North Carolina, Virginia, Arkansas, Mississippi and Georgia.

France "All Alone"

VICHY, France, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Foreign Minister Paul Baudouin said to day France is "all alone" in the far east and should not be judged too harshly if her decisions in Indo-China, where she has had to yield to Japanese demands, are not pleasing to "the western world."

In a statement to American newspaper correspondents the foreign minister said France had been given to understand no real support could be given her by the United States should the Japanese attack Indo-China.

COTTON PRODUCERS TO VOTE ON CONTROL PROGRAM DEC. 7TH

SMALLEST VOLUME EXPORTS SINCE CIVIL WAR DAYS IS PREDICTED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—(AP)—With trade authorities predicting the smallest volume of exports since Civil War days, Secretary Wickard asked cotton growers today to approve production and marketing restrictions on their crop for the fourth consecutive year.

Acting under terms of the 1928 crop contract act, the secretary proclaimed marketing quotas which would set a planting goal of about 27,900,000 acres and a marketing goal of about 12,000,000 bales.

The control program will be submitted at a grower referendum December 7. It must be approved by two-thirds of those voting to become operative.

Agriculture department trade authorities said that a continuation of the war as at present likely would hold exports to about 2,000,000 bales. Foreign shipments last season amounted to 6,175,000 bales.

Commenting on the dark export outlook, Wickard declared cotton farmers "have need of marketing quotas for the 1941 market[illegible] year more than ever before."

The crop act makes it mandatory for the secretary to proclaim quotas when the country's votton supplies reach 707 per cent of normal. A normal supply consists of a normal year's demestic consumption and exports plus 40 per cent for reserve. Wickard said that on August 1, the supply totaled 24,900,000 bales, or 137 per cent of a normal supply of 18,200,000 bales.

FURTHER CONTROL OF LAND SUGGESTED FOR MIGRANTS PROBLEM

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Edwin R. Henson of Amarillo, Texas, federal agricultural expert, told a congressional committee today controlled management of land "perhaps by rural zoning" would help the Southwest solve its migrant problem.

Henson was the first witness called by the committee, appointed to study migration and suggest remedial legislation.

"The population of the dust bowl area is still in excess of that which can be satisfactorily supported under the existing pattern of ownership and land use," Hensold told the congressmen.

He described the start of the devastating dust storms of the 1930's and commented:

"As the drouth and dust storms continued year after year, many of the families began to look elsewhere for a place to make their homes Then there began a great migration x x x. In a few counties as much as 40 per cent of the farm population moved out x x x.

"Such emigration has left such facilities as roads and schools to be supported by the remaining few who are financially unable to carry the burden."

He suggested that:

"Farms should be set up on an economical basis.

"Farming methods that will prevent soil blowing must be practiced on all farms in the area.

"Management of all the land should be controlled in accordance with recommendations of local committees, perhaps by rural zoning."

House Sent to Senate Housing Bill For Army

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Working at top speed to provide housing for the forthcoming conscript army, the house passed and sent to the senate today a $338 263,902 appropriation bill for barracks and other construction at army posts.

The measure was called up after Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, appeared before the house appropriations committee and urged prompt action to get construction started before winter.

The sum would be in addition to approximately $200,000,000 provided for army and national guard housing in a recent $5,000,000,000 defense appropriation.

Representative Taber (R.-N. Y.) explained to the house the money was intended to provide wooden onrracks and auxiliary facilities for approximately 500,000 men and tents with wooden floors for another 40,000 in warm climates.

BRITAIN SEEKING ARMY'S LONG-RANGE BOMBING PLANES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Reports circulated anew today that Great Britain had made inquiries about the possibility of obtaining some of the army's long range B-17 bombing planes.

The British were said to have asked if they could have some of the 59 bombers of that type now in service, particularly the older models, or if they could take over some of the army's current order for improved types of the plane. The improved ships are credited with a speed in excess of 300 miles an hour and a range of more than 3,000 miles.

Officials, non-commital on the reports, said the Boeing company of Seattle had been authorized "some time ago" to negotiate for foreign sale of a commercial version of the huge ship.

Senator Lee (D-Okla) in a radio speech last night urged President Roosevelt "to make available to England such number of our flying fortresses, bombers, fighting planes and warships as in the opinion of the military and naval authorities of the United States should be transferred to England."

Hedges Against Malaria.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—(AP)—In India scientists are using beautiful hedges as an effective preventative of malaria.

How is explained in nature, Britain's official science journal. It has been found that in many parts of India the mosquitoes which carry malaria breed only in water exposed to bright sunshine.

Man, in clearing the fields for agriculture, has increased the malaria menace, the journal says, by exposing more and more small streams to sunshine. In the rice fields this discovery has been put to use by growing hedges along both sides of the little streams which water the ground. These streams, before they were shaded from the sun, were some of the main sources of malaria mosquitoes.

American Mail Piles Up

MADRID, Sept. 19.—(AP)—With more than 1,000 sacks of mail addressed to the Americans piled up in the postoffice, Spanish postal authorities announced today that henceforth they will accept only air mail.

Officials explained that Spanish ships decline to accept the mail for fear British ships will halt them and cause delay, while the Portuguese postoffice is refusing to handle transit mail because of lack of facilities.

DRAFT REGISTRATION FORMS DISTRIBUTED PRINTERS THURSDAY

FIRST OF SERIES 64 CARDS, QUESTIONNAIRES, ETC., FOR CONSCRIPTION

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Distribution of draft registration forms for printing began today, with master copies of the first four blanks speeding by airmail to the 48 states where they will be reproduced by the millions.

The forms were the first of the series of 64 cards, questionnaires, placards, booklets and the like which will be needed in the huge task of enrolling 16,500,000 men next month and selecting some of them for military service. The ultimate cost of draft printing is estimated at $1,500,000.

The President is expected to call the draft organization into official being today.

A house appropriations subcommittee called General George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, to testify today on President Roosevelt's request on funds for starting the draft.

All printing bills will be paid by the federal government. While printing contracts can be negotiated in some cases, most will be let after competitive bidding.

The senate wrote into the excess profits tax bill a provision enabling the President to establish allowances for dependents of those drafted.

The provision was phrased in broad language in order that senate and house conferees may work out a more definit plan later. The outlay is expected to be relatively small at first, because the general policy will be to place men who are supporting other members of their family in a deferred classification.

Freezing Credit.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Rep. Patman (D-Tex) told the house military committee today the new draft law already was "freezing" credit and slowing up sales by installment businesses.

Testifying on a bill to extend certain debt relief to men conscripted for military service, Patman urged that the measure include a provision to permit installment firms to set up a government-supervised insurance fund to protect them against losses directly due to the draft.

Of approximately $4,000,000,000 now outstanding under installmentpurchase contracts, he declared, about one-third involves men eligible for compulsory military services.

...BUT WHY COURT-MARTIAL THE WHOLE REGIMENT?

There are bound to be one or two bad soldiers in every regiment. But why court-martial the whole regiment?

The same applies to beer retailing. Out of hundreds of thousands of wholesome, law-abiding beer retailers, there is bound to be a small minority who disobey the law or permit anti-social conditions.

To protect your right to drink good beer, the Brewing Industry wants even this small minority of undesirable retailers eliminated entirely. Beer is a refreshing, appetizing beverage — the beverage of moderation. We want every beer retail establishment to be as wholesome as beer itself.

To that end, we have instituted a "clean-up or close-up" program—now in operation in some states and being extended to others. We'd like to tell you about it in an interesting free booklet.

News of County Home Demonstration Clubs

White's Chapel Club

Most adequate breakfasts are cereal dishes, Mrs. W. M. Stough, home food supply demonstrator told a group of White's Chapel club members at the home of Mrs. Jack Hagler.

Dietitian, advise the family meal planner with a limited food budget to serve at least one. Bread is needed at every meal, Half of the cerals used should be the whole-grain kind as they furnish more vitamins, and minerals. Children should have a cooked variety. Porridge is very delicious and is made from rolled oats, whole or refined wheat corn meal or hominy grits. Long, slow cooking in a double boiler is the best way to get good flavor. Milk may be used in place of water. Dried fruits may be stewed and used for a breakfast cereal. A breakfast cereal should never be the same two days in a row.

The hostess served pimiento and cheese sandwiches and cookies with grape punch to twenty-two members and four visitors. Mrs. C. F. Penny, Mrs. Charles A. Bell, Mrs. E. E. Pike and Miss Bobbie Ray action by nightfall on the intricate excess profits legislation, were encouraged today by an agreement to vote in late afternoon (3 p. m. C.S.T.) on a proposed amendment which would make income from future governmental securities subject to taxation.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. M. L. Still 1510 Maplewood, September 25.—Reporter.

The proposal to tax income from governmental securities would apply to state and local as well as federal bond issues. Senator Adams (D-Colo), however, proposed the amendment be restricted to federal issues only.

"If the states and cities lose their tax immunity," he said, "it will be necessary to pay a higher rate of interest on their bonds. It is going to cost a good deal."

Warren Temporary House Leader.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Rep. Lindsay C. Warren of North Carolina who will leave the house in a fortnight to become comptroller general, today took over temprarily the duties of democratic leader.

Speaker Rayburn announced Warren's selection last night. No decision was reached on whether the house democrats would caucus soon to select a permanent leader or defer the action.

Rayburn was elevated to the speakership from the majority leader's post to succeed the late Speaker Bankhead.
